9 Richard Rose,

10 Plaintiff,

11 v.

12 Commissioner of Social Security
13 Administration,

14 Defendant.

No. CV-17-04759-PHX-BSB

ORDER

15 Plaintiff Richard Rose seeks judicial review of the final decision of the 16 Commissioner of Social Security (the “Commissioner”) denying his application for 17 benefits under the Social Security Act (the “Act”). The parties have consented to proceed 18 before a United States Magistrate Judge pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b) and have filed 19 briefs in accordance with Rule 16.1 of the Local Rules of Civil Procedure. For the 20 following reasons, the Court vacates the Commissioner’s decision and remands for further 21 proceedings.

22 I. Procedural Background

23 On April 2, 2014, Plaintiff filed an application for a period of disability and 24 disability insurance benefits under Title II of the Act. (Tr. 65.)¹ Plaintiff alleged disability 25 beginning on April 2, 2014. (Id.) After denial on initial review and on reconsideration, 26 Plaintiff requested a hearing before an administrative law judge (“ALJ”). (Tr. 65.) After 27 conducting a hearing, the ALJ issued a decision finding Plaintiff not disabled under the 28

¹ Citations to “Tr.” refer to the administrative record filed at docket 17.

1 Act. (Tr. 65-82.) The Social Security Administration Appeals Council denied Plaintiff's 2 request for review. (Tr. 1-6.) Plaintiff now seeks judicial review of this decision pursuant 3 to 42 U.S.C. § 405(g).

4 II. Administrative Record

5 The record before the Court establishes the following history of diagnoses and 6 treatment related to Plaintiff's impairments. The record also includes several medical 7 opinions.

8 A. Medical Treatment

9 On February 4, 2014, Plaintiff was injured at work and went to the emergency room.
10 (Tr. 97-98, 314.) Plaintiff complained of a spasm in his lumbar spine that was worse with 11 movement and better with rest. (Id.) On examination Physician Assistant ("PA") Mary 12 Matherly found tenderness to palpation in the bilateral lumbar paraspinal muscles and into 13 the bilateral SI joints and significant decreased range of motion secondary to pain.
14 (Tr. 315.) PA Matherly diagnosed Plaintiff with acute chronic lumbar pain. (Id.)

15 On February 24, 2014, Plaintiff sought treatment at the Core Institute and 16 complained of low back pain with spasms and right leg pain. (Tr. 320.) On examination 17 of Plaintiff's lumbar spine, Ali Araghi, D.O., found decreased range of motion due to pain, 18 tenderness to palpation, and painful facet loading. (Tr. 322.) Dr. Araghi noted that a June 19 2013 MRI of Plaintiff's lumbar spine showed "central disc protrusion at L4-5 with pressure 20 on the bilateral L5 nerve roots and moderate central canal stenosis at L4-L5." (Id.) 21 Dr. Araghi prescribed Naproxen and Flexeril and ordered a lumbar MRI. (Tr. 323.) The 22 MRI, performed on March 7, 2014, showed "interval increase in central focal disc 23 extrusion at L4-5," "severe central canal stenosis at L4-L5 with impingement upon the 24 transiting nerve roots," "right paracentral focal disc protrusion at L5-S1 which . . . contacts 25 the transiting right S1 nerve root," and "right lateral disc protrusion at L2-L3 which may 26 contact the exiting right nerve root." (Tr. 344.)

27 On March 5, 2014, Plaintiff saw Michael Winer, M.D., regarding his low back pain.
28 (Tr. 417.) On examination, Dr. Winer found full range of motion in the cervical spine with

1 “minimal tenderness.” (Tr. 418.) He also observed “lumbar tenderness with right sciatic 2 notch tenderness,” decreased lumbar range of motion with pain, pain with extension and 3 side bending, positive straight leg test positive bilaterally, and decreased sensory 4 distribution at L5. (Tr. 419.)

5 An x-ray of Plaintiffs lumbar spine, taken May 1, 2014, showed disc space
6 narrowing at L4-5 and L5-S1 with anterior marginal osteophytes, decrease in disc space 7 height at L4-5 and L5-S1 and degenerative retrolisthesis of L4 onto L5. (Tr. 44.) That 8 same day, an MRI of Plaintiff’s lumbar spine showed increased herniation at L4-S1 level
9 causing severe lateral recess stenosis and moderate central canal stenosis. (Tr. 46.)

10 On May 6, 2014, Dr. Winer noted increased lumbar stenosis and objective findings 11 of lumbar and right leg radicular pain. (Tr. 352.) He administered lumbar epidural steroid 12 injections at L4-5 and L5-S1. (Tr. 353.) On May 22, 2014, Plaintiff saw Dr. Winer with 13 complaints of low back pain and neck pain with tingling into his right hand. (Tr. 423.) On 14 examination Dr. Winer found tenderness in the paracervical area, restriction in head 15 turning, some tingling and dysesthesia in the right forearm toward the thumb, lumbar 16 tenderness, decreased range of motion with pain, positive straight leg test on the right, 17 decreased muscle bulk in the right calf, and weakness in flexors. (Tr. 424.) Plaintiff 18 reported that the epidural injections provided “good relief” for two to four days before the 19 pain returned. (Id.) Dr. Winer recommended repeating the epidurals in three to four weeks 20 and recommend a cervical MRI and x-rays. (Tr. 424-25.) On June 6, 2014, an MRI of 21 Plaintiff’s cervical spine showed “mild disc height loss at C5-C6 and C6-C7.” (Tr. 345.)
22 There was no spinal stenosis in the cervical spine. (Id.) That same day, an x-ray of 23 Plaintiff’s lumbar spine showed “moderate discogenic degenerative changes” at L5-S1
24 with “[s]light lower lumbar dextroscoliosis.” (Tr. 346-47.)

25 At a July 22, 2014 appointment with Dr. Winer, Plaintiff complained of lower back 26 pain and leg pain. (Tr. 348.) On examination Dr. Winer observed decreased lumbar range 27 of motion, and decreased sensation in the right lower calf with atrophy. (Id.) Dr. Winer
28 gave Plaintiff lumbar epidural steroid injections at L4-5 and L5-S1. (Tr. 349-50.)

1 During an August 14, 2014 appointment with Dr. Winer, Plaintiff complained of 2 continued neck pain. (Tr. 425.) On examination Dr. Winer found cervical tenderness, 3 decreased range of motion, decreased right bicep reflex, significant right bicep weakness, 4 one-half inch of atrophy of the right forearm, and decreased sensation with upper arm 5 extension. (Tr. 425-26.) On referral from Dr. Winer, on September 17, 2014, Plaintiff saw 6 John Jones, M.D., for an evaluation of neck pain with numbness and tingling into his right 7 arm. (Tr. 356.) On examination Dr. Jones found cervical tenderness over the left lower 8 cervical pillar, abnormal cervical range of motion limited on the left lateral rotation, 9 cervical pain with motion, reduced strength, and abnormal Spurling's maneuver. (Tr. 358.)
10 Dr. Jones diagnosed cervical spondylosis, herniated nucleus pulposus, and right C6
11 radiculopathy. (Tr. 359.) Dr. Jones prescribed physical therapy for the cervical spine. (Id.)

12 On September 30, 2014, Dr. Winer performed lumbar decompression and lumbar 13 fusion on Plaintiff. (Tr. 370-73.) In an October 24, 2014 note, Dr. Winer stated that an 14 October 22, 2014 x-ray of Plaintiff's lumbar spine x-ray "look[ed] good." (Tr. 431.) In a 15 November 2014 treatment note, Dr. Winer noted that Plaintiff was making progress but 16 still complained of back pain. (Id.) On February 25, 2015, Dr. Winer noted that Plaintiff 17 had made some progress but, at four months after surgery, Dr. Winer expected better range 18 of motion and less lumbar pain. (Tr. 511.) Because of lack of progress noted on Plaintiff's 19 x-ray, Dr. Winer ordered a bone growth stimulator. (Id.) During an April 16, 2015
20 appointment, Dr. Winer found limited mobility in Plaintiff's lumbar spine, and negative 21 straight leg raising, except some hamstring tightness. (Tr. 509.) On June 3, 2015, 22 Dr. Winer found tenderness at L4-5 and L5-S1, decreased lumbar range of motion, 23 "possible delayed union of the fusion," and he noted that Plaintiff was making slow 24 progress with a bone growth stimulator and physical therapy. (Tr. 510.) Dr. Winer
25 recommended continued physical therapy. (Id.)

26 During a February 10, 2016 appointment with Dr. Winer, Plaintiff complained of 27 low back pain, right buttock pain, right leg pain, SI joint pain, and persistent stiffness with 28 limited range of motion. (Tr. 434.) On examination Dr. Winer observed that Plaintiff

1 “walk[ed] with apparent stiffness and mov[ed] in a protected fashion.” (Tr. 436.) Plaintiff
2 had a limited cervical range of motion, thoracic and lumbar paraspinal tenderness, SI joint 3 tenderness, “minimal” muscle spasm in the right paraspinal area, limited flexion, focal pain 4 in the right SI joint area with focal tenderness, and positive thigh thrust on the right. (Id.)

5 On February 24, 2016, an MRI of Plaintiff’s cervical spine showed degenerative 6 disc disease at C5-6, broad-based disc height, moderate bilateral foraminal stenosis, 7 minimal central stenosis, broad-based central disc bulge with moderate bilateral foraminal 8 stenosis at C6-7, and “no central stenosis.” (Tr. 584.)

9 On June 9, 2016, Plaintiff saw Edward Song, M.D., and complained of worsening 10 neck pain. (Tr. 578.) Plaintiff reported that recent epidural injections provided relief for a 11 few days. (Tr. 578, 595, 603.) On examination, Dr. Song found diminished sensation in 12 the left arm, diminished left grip strength, and diminished left bicep strength. (Tr. 580.)
13 Dr. Song recommended a cervical discectomy and fusion to address Plaintiff’s foraminal 14 stenosis at C5-7. (Id.)

15 B. Examining Physicians’ Opinions

16 1. Terry McLean, M.D.

17 On May 9, 2014, Dr. McLean conducted an independent medical examination of 18 Plaintiff for the First Medical Advisory Group. (Tr. 34.) On examination Dr. McLean
19 found that Plaintiff could heel and toe walk and perform a tandem gait. (Tr. 39.) Plaintiff 20 had no tenderness in the cervical or thoracic spine. (Id.) Dr. McLean observed a “trace 21 limp on the right side,” a shallow knee bend, tenderness in the lower right foraminal area, 22 bilateral lumbosacral tenderness, right sciatic notch tenderness, decreased lumbosacral 23 range of motion, and positive slump test. (Tr. at 39-40.) Dr. McLean stated that Plaintiff 24 had “progression in the size of herniation at the L4-5 level [that had] created more stenosis 25 at the L4-5 level . . . and further injury to the disc.” (Tr. 41.) Dr. McLean opined that 26 Plaintiff was limited to lifting ten pounds but could “more frequently” lift five pounds.
27 (Tr. 42.) Dr. McLean opined that Plaintiff should change positions at least every hour and 28 could “walk upwards of a half hour.” (Id.)

1 Dr. McLean examined Plaintiff again on December 1, 2015. (Tr. 25.) On 2 examination Dr. McLean found decreased cervical range of motion, decreased lumbar 3 range of motion, and decreased sensation in the nondermatomal distribution in his entire 4 right leg. (Tr. 29-30.) Dr. McLean noted that Plaintiff's fusion was "solid" and there was 5 "no further compression." (Tr. 32.) Straight leg raising test was negative and Plaintiff had 6 full strength in all extremities. (Tr. 30-31.) Dr. McLean stated that there were "very little"
7 objective findings. (Tr. 32.) Dr. McLean opined that Plaintiff could lift up to forty pounds 8 infrequently and "upwards of 15-20 pounds" "more frequently." (Id.) Plaintiff must 9 change position "at least every hour with sitting and every 30 minutes with standing and 10 walking." (Id.)

11 2. Michael Powers, M.D.

12 On June 12, 2015, Dr. Powers examined Plaintiff for a "disability evaluation" for 13 the Corrections Officers Retirement Plan. (Tr. 439-42.) Plaintiff reported that after lumbar 14 surgery in September 2014, his pain had decreased about 50% but the restrictions in his 15 mobility were about the same. (Tr. 440.) On examination, Plaintiff was slow standing, 16 turning, and walking. (Tr. 441.) Plaintiff had increased pain with bending, very limited 17 back extension, pain with cervical rotation, decreased sensation in the right calf, and 18 positive straight leg test on the right. (Id.)

19 3. Michael Winer, M.D.

20 On December 24, 2014, Dr. Winer completed a medical source statement. (Tr. 48-21 51.) He noted that Plaintiff was recovering from back surgery, and that he had some 22 physical limitations due to low back pain and some leg pain. (Tr. 48.) Dr. Winer opined
23 that Plaintiff could sit and stand for thirty minutes at a time up to two hours a day. (Tr. 49.)
24 Plaintiff needed unscheduled breaks due to pain and numbness. (Id.) Plaintiff could rarely 25 lift less than ten pounds. (Tr. 49-50.) Dr. Winer opined that Plaintiff's symptoms would 26 interfere with his attention and concentration and cause him to be off task 25% or more 27 during a workday. (Tr. 50.)
28

1 On February 10, 2016, Dr. Winer completed a “statement of work status.” (Tr. 437.)
2 He opined that Plaintiff could lift fifteen to twenty pounds occasionally and could lift forty 3 pounds rarely. (Tr. 437.) He stated that Plaintiff should avoid repetitive lifting, bending, 4 and stooping. (Id.) He also stated that Plaintiff needed to change position frequently and 5 could not perform work overhead or below the knee. (Id.)

6 On February 23, 2016, Dr. Winer completed an “attending physician’s statement.”
7 (Tr. 457-48.) He opined that, due to back pain and right SI joint pain, Plaintiff could not 8 bend, kneel, or climb. (Tr. 458.) Plaintiff could lift fifteen pounds occasionally. (Id.)
9 Plaintiff could not perform overhead reaching or below the knee work. (Id.)

10 On October 11, 2016, Dr. Winer completed a medical source statement. (Tr. 52-11 55.) Dr. Winer stated that due to neck pain, right arm pain, low back pain, right leg pain, 12 buttock pain, and cervical radiculopathy, Plaintiff could sit for fifteen minutes at one time 13 for a total of two hours in an eight-hour day, stand for fifteen minutes at one time, and walk 14 for about fifteen minutes at a time for total of two hours in an eight-hour day. (Tr. 53.)
15 Dr. Winer opined that Plaintiff needed to take unscheduled breaks due to pain, muscle 16 weakness, and fatigue. (Id.) He found that Plaintiff could lift ten pounds occasionally.
17 (Tr. 54.)

18 4. Edward Song, M.D.

19 On March 17, 2016, Dr. Song completed an “attending physician statement.”
20 (Tr. 461-62.) Dr. Song stated that based on neck pain, arm pain, limited left arm strength, 21 and limited cervical range of motion, Plaintiff could never perform gross or fine
22 manipulation with his left hand and could not reach on the left side. (Tr. 461-62.)

23 On September 15, 2016, Dr. Song completed a medical source statement. (Tr. 58-24 61.) Dr. Song opined that due to neck pain, left arm pain, left hand weakness, decreased 25 left grip strength, and decreased bicep strength, Plaintiff needed to take unscheduled breaks 26 every thirty minutes to an hour. (Tr. 58-59.) Dr. Song opined that Plaintiff’s symptoms 27 would interfere with his attention and concentration and would cause him to be off task 28

1 more than 25% of the day. (Tr. 61.) He also opined that Plaintiff would miss at least three 2 days of work per month due to his impairments or treatment. (Id.)

3 III. The Administrative Hearing

4 Plaintiff was fifty years old as of the disability onset date. (Tr. 83.) He had a high 5 school education and past relevant work as a loan officer, car sales person, and corrections
6 officer. (Tr. 80, 91.) At the September 14, 2016 administrative hearing, Plaintiff testified 7 that he left his job as a corrections officer in 2014 after he was injured on the job. (Tr. 93-8 94.) Plaintiff testified that he could not work because of problems and pain in his low back, 9 neck, and right arm. (Tr. 95.) Plaintiff was scheduled for a cervical fusion in October 10 2016, after the administrative hearing. (Id.) Plaintiff testified that he had difficulty 11 bending. (Tr. 95, 100.) Plaintiff testified that he had pain when sitting for more than thirty 12 minutes, pain with standing, numbness down his right leg, and constant numbness in his 13 right arm. (Id.) Plaintiff could walk “under a half mile.” (Tr. 100.) Plaintiff’s wife did 14 the housework. (Id.) Plaintiff stated that every night pain woke him up at 1:00 a.m. and 15 then he napped in a recliner to nap until spasms in his right side woke him up. (Tr. 96.)
16 Plaintiff testified that he napped “constantly.” (Tr. 100.)

17 At the administrative hearing, a vocational expert testified that an individual who 18 could lift and carry twenty pounds occasionally, ten pounds frequently, required a sit/stand 19 option, was allowed to change positions after one hour of sitting or thirty minutes of 20 walking or standing, who could occasionally climb stairs, ramps, stoop, kneel, crouch and 21 crawl, who could never climb ladders, ropes, and scaffolds, and who should avoid 22 concentrated exposure to extreme cold, unprotected heights, and moving and dangerous 23 machinery could not perform Plaintiff’s past relevant work. (Tr. 102.) However, a person 24 with those restrictions could perform other work. (Id.) The vocational expert testified that 25 an individual who was limited to sitting two hours and standing or walking two hours in 26 an eight-hour day would be unable to do any work. (Tr. 102-03.)

1 IV. The ALJ’s Decision

2 A claimant is considered disabled under the Social Security Act if he is unable “to 3 engage in any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical 4 or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which has lasted or can 5 be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months.” 42 U.S.C.
6 § 423(d)(1)(A); see also 42 U.S.C. § 1382c(a)(3)(A) (nearly identical standard for 7 supplemental security income disability insurance benefits). To determine whether a 8 claimant is disabled, the ALJ uses a five-step sequential evaluation process. See 20 C.F.R.
9 §§ 404.1520, 416.920.

10 A. The Five-Step Sequential Evaluation Process

11 In the first two steps, a claimant seeking disability benefits must initially 12 demonstrate (1) that he is not presently engaged in a substantial gainful activity, and 13 (2) that his medically determinable impairment or combinations of impairments is severe.
14 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(b) and (c), 416.920(b) and (c). If a claimant meets steps one and 15 two, there are two ways in which he may be found disabled at steps three through five. At 16 step three, he may prove that his impairment or combination of impairments meets or 17 equals an impairment in the Listing of Impairments found in Appendix 1 to Subpart P of 18 20 C.F.R. Part 404. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(a)(4)(iii) and (d), 416.920(d). If so, the 19 claimant is presumptively disabled. If not, the ALJ determines the claimant’s residual 20 functional capacity (“RFC”). 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(e), 416.920(e). At step four, the ALJ
21 determines whether a claimant’s RFC precludes him from performing his past relevant 22 work. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(f), 416.920(f). If the claimant establishes this prima facie 23 case, the burden shifts to the government at step five to establish that the claimant can 24 perform other jobs that exist in significant number in the national economy, considering 25 the claimant’s RFC, age, work experience, and education. 20 C.F.R. §§ 404.1520(g), 26 416.920(g). If the government does not meet this burden, then the claimant is considered 27 disabled within the meaning of the Act.

1 B. The ALJ’s Application of the Five-Step Evaluation Process

2 Applying the five-step sequential evaluation process, the ALJ found that Plaintiff 3 had not engaged in substantial gainful activity since the alleged disability onset date.
4 (Tr. 67.) At step two, the ALJ found that Plaintiff had “the following severe impairments: 5 residuals of lumbar surgery, cervicalgia, and obesity. (20 CFR 404.1520(c)).” (Id.) At 6 step three, the ALJ found that Plaintiff did not have an impairment or combination of 7 impairments that met or equaled the severity of a listed impairment. (Tr. 68.)

8 The ALJ found that Plaintiff had the RFC “to perform light work (lifting and 9 carrying 20 pounds occasionally and ten pounds frequently).” (Id.) The ALJ added that 10 Plaintiff needed a “‘sit/stand option,’ in which [Plaintiff could] sit, stand and/or walk for a 11 total of eight hours in an eight hour day, exclusive of normal breaks, and with the option 12 to be able to change positions after one hour of sitting or 30 minutes of working or standing, 13 while remaining at the work station.” (Id.) The ALJ found that Plaintiff could occasionally 14 climb stairs and ramps, but could never climb ladders, ropes, or scaffolds. (Id.) Plaintiff 15 could “occasionally stoop, kneel, crouch, and crawl.” (Id.) Plaintiff should avoid 16 concentrated exposure to . . . cold, unprotected heights, and moving or dangerous 17 machinery.” (Id.)

18 At step four, the ALJ concluded that Plaintiff could not perform his past relevant 19 work. (Tr. 79.) At step five, the ALJ concluded that, considering Plaintiff’s age, education, 20 work experience, and RFC, he could perform other work that existed in significant numbers 21 in the national economy. (Tr. 80.) Therefore, the ALJ concluded that Plaintiff had not 22 been under a disability, as defined in the Act, from the alleged onset date through the date 23 of his decision. (Tr. 81.) The ALJ denied Plaintiff’s application for a period of disability 24 and disability insurance benefits. (Tr. 82.)

25 V. Standard of Review

26 The district court has the “power to enter, upon the pleadings and transcript of 27 record, a judgment affirming, modifying, or reversing the decision of the Commissioner, 28 with or without remanding the cause for a rehearing.” 42 U.S.C. § 405(g). The district

1 court reviews the Commissioner's final decision under the substantial evidence standard 2 and must affirm the Commissioner's decision if it is supported by substantial evidence and 3 it is free from legal error. Smolen v. Chater, 80 F.3d 1273, 1279 (9th Cir. 1996); Ryan v.
4 Comm'r of Soc. Sec. Admin., 528 F.3d 1194, 1198 (9th Cir. 2008). Even if the ALJ erred, 5 however, "[a] decision of the ALJ will not be reversed for errors that are harmless." Burch 6 v. Barnhart, 400 F.3d 676, 679 (9th Cir. 2005).

7 Substantial evidence means more than a mere scintilla, but less than a 8 preponderance; it is "such relevant evidence as a reasonable mind might accept as adequate 9 to support a conclusion." Richardson v. Perales, 402 U.S. 389, 401 (1971) (citations 10 omitted); see also Webb v. Barnhart, 433 F.3d 683, 686 (9th Cir. 2005). In determining 11 whether substantial evidence supports a decision, the court considers the record as a whole 12 and "may not affirm simply by isolating a specific quantum of supporting evidence." Orn 13 v. Astrue, 495 F.3d 625, 630 (9th Cir. 2007) (internal quotation and citation omitted). The 14 ALJ is responsible for resolving conflicts in testimony, determining credibility, and 15 resolving ambiguities. See Andrews v. Shalala, 53 F.3d 1035, 1039 (9th Cir. 1995). "When 16 the evidence before the ALJ is subject to more than one rational interpretation [the court]
17 must defer to the ALJ's conclusion." Batson v. Comm'r of Soc. Sec. Admin., 359 F.3d 18 1190, 1198 (9th Cir. 2004) (citing Andrews, 53 F.3d at 1041).

19 VI. Plaintiff's Claims

20 Plaintiff raises the following claims: (1) the ALJ erred by failing to accurately 21 consider Listing 1.04 at step three of the sequential evaluation process; (2) the ALJ erred
22 by rejecting the opinions of Dr. Winer, Plaintiff's treating physician; and (3) the ALJ erred 23 by failing to provide clear and convincing reasons for rejecting Plaintiff's symptom 24 testimony. (Doc. 18 at 1.) The Commissioner asserts that the ALJ's decision is free from 25 harmful error and is supported by substantial evidence. (Doc. 23.) As set forth below, the 26 Court finds that any error in the ALJ's listing analysis was harmless, but the ALJ erred in 27 rejecting Dr. Winer's February 2016 opinions and that error requires remand. Thus, the 28

1 Court does not consider whether the ALJ erred in his assessment of Dr. Winer's other 2 opinions or whether he erred in assessing Plaintiff's testimony.

3 A. The ALJ's Step Three Analysis

4 Plaintiff asserts that the ALJ erred at step three of the sequential evaluation process
5 by failing to adequately consider whether Plaintiff's impairment met or equaled Listing 6 1.04. (Doc. 18 at 10-11.) The Commissioner argues that even if the ALJ erred at step 7 three, Plaintiff has not shown that a remand for further proceedings is appropriate.
8 (Doc. 23 at 3-5.)

9 At step three of the sequential evaluation process, the ALJ determines if a claimant 10 has an impairment or combination of impairments that meets or equals an impairment 11 contained in the Listing of Impairments. See 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520(d). If a claimant shows 12 that his impairment or combination of impairments meets or equals a listed impairment, he 13 will be found presumptively disabled. See 20 C.F.R. §§ 416.925-416.926. An impairment 14 meets a listed impairment if it satisfies all the criteria of that listed impairment. See 15 Sullivan Zebley, 493 U.S. 521, 530 (1990); Kennedy v. Colvin, 738 F.3d 1172, 1174 (9th 16 Cir. 2013); Tackett v. Apfel, 180 F.3d 1094, 1099 (9th Cir. 1999). To "equal" a listed 17 impairment, the claimant "must establish symptoms, signs, and laboratory findings" at least 18 equal in severity and duration to each element of the listed impairment. Tackett, 180 F.3d 19 at 1099 (quoting 20 C.F.R. § 404.1526).

20 "Although a claimant bears the burden of proving that [he] has an impairment or 21 combination of impairments that meets or equals the criteria of a listed impairment, an ALJ 22 must still adequately discuss and evaluate the evidence before concluding that a claimant's 23 impairments fail to meet or equal a listing." Cunningham v. Astrue, 2011 WL 5103760, at 24 *3 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 27, 2011) (citing Marcia v. Sullivan, 900 F.2d 172, 176 (9th Cir. 1990) 25 ("[I]n determining whether a claimant equals a listing under step three . . . the ALJ must 26 explain adequately his evaluation of alternative tests and the combined effects of the 27 impairments.")). Remand for further proceedings is appropriate when "an ALJ fails 28 adequately to consider a listing that plausibly applies to a plaintiff's case." Cunningham,

1 2011 WL 5103760, at *3 (citing Lewis v. Apfel, 236 F.3d 503, 514 (9th Cir. 2001) (stating 2 that a plaintiff must present a plausible theory as to how an impairment or combination of 3 impairments equals a listed impairment)).

4 At step three, the ALJ stated that “[t]he medical evidence does not include evidence 5 of nerve root compression, spinal arachnoiditis, or lumbar spinal stenosis as required under 6 listing 1.04.” (Tr. 68.) Plaintiff argues that the ALJ erred at step three because he 7 inaccurately stated that the record did not include evidence of nerve root compression or 8 lumbar spinal stenosis. (Doc. 18 at 10-11.) The Commissioner agrees that ALJ did not 9 fully describe Plaintiff’s lumbar impairment at step three of the sequential evaluation 10 process. (Doc. 23 at 4.) However, the Commissioner argues that the error is harmless 11 because other portions of the ALJ’s decision accurately characterize Plaintiff’s lumbar 12 impairment. (Id.) The Commissioner further argues that remand is not appropriate because 13 Plaintiff does not argue his lumbar impairment meets or equals Listing 1.04. (Id. at 3.)

14 The Court agrees with the Commissioner. Plaintiff asserts that the ALJ did not 15 accurately consider Listing 1.04 but does not present a plausible theory as to how his 16 impairment or combination of impairments meets or equals Listing 1.04. (Doc. 18 at 10-17 11.) Plaintiff does not identify the criteria of Listing 1.04 and, other than referring to 18 evidence of stenosis and nerve impingement, does not explain how his impairment or 19 combination of impairments meets or equals that listing. (Id. at 11 (citing Tr. 344).)
20 Because Plaintiff has not offered a plausible theory as to how his combined impairments 21 meet or are medically equivalent to the criteria for a listed impairment, the Court finds the 22 ALJ’s listing analysis was not an error that requires remand for further proceedings. See 23 Lewis, 236 F.3d at 514; see also Kennedy v. Colvin, 738 F.3d 1172, 1176 (9th Cir. 2013).

24 B. Medical Source Opinion Evidence

25 Plaintiff asserts that the ALJ erred in rejecting the opinions of Dr. Winer, his treating 26 physician. In weighing medical source opinion evidence, the Ninth Circuit distinguishes 27 between three types of physicians: (1) treating physicians, who treat the claimant; 28 (2) examining physicians, who examine but do not treat the claimant; and (3) non-

1 examining physicians, who neither treat nor examine the claimant. Lester v. Chater, 81
2 F.3d 821, 830 (9th Cir. 1995). Generally, more weight is given to a treating physician's 3 opinion. Id. The ALJ must provide clear and convincing reasons supported by substantial 4 evidence for rejecting a treating or an examining physician's uncontradicted opinion. Id.; 5 see also Reddick v. Chater, 157 F.3d 715, 725 (9th Cir. 1998). An ALJ may reject the 6 controverted opinion of a treating or an examining physician by providing specific and 7 legitimate reasons that are supported by substantial evidence in the record. Bayliss v.
8 Barnhart, 427 F.3d 1211, 1216 (9th Cir. 2005); Reddick, 157 F.3d at 725.

9 Opinions from non-examining medical sources are entitled to less weight than 10 opinions from treating or examining physicians. Lester, 81 F.3d at 831. Although an ALJ 11 generally gives more weight to an examining physician's opinion than to a non-examining 12 physician's opinion, a non-examining physician's opinion may nonetheless constitute 13 substantial evidence if it is consistent with other independent evidence in the record.
14 Thomas v. Barnhart, 278 F.3d 947, 957 (9th Cir. 2002). When evaluating medical opinion 15 evidence, the ALJ may consider "the amount of relevant evidence that supports the opinion 16 and the quality of the explanation provided; the consistency of the medical opinion with 17 the record as a whole; [and] the specialty of the physician providing the opinion. . . ." Orn, 18 495 F.3d at 631.

19 1. Dr. Winer's Opinions

20 Dr. Winer issued multiple assessments of Plaintiff's physical limitations. (Tr. 48-21 51, 52-55, 437, 457-58, 460, 462, 569, 640-43.) However, Plaintiff only challenges the 22 ALJ's assessment of Dr. Winer's opinions in December 2014 and February 2016. (Doc. 18 23 at 12-15.) As set forth below, the Court concludes that the ALJ erred in his assessment of 24 Dr. Winer's February 2016 opinions and that remand is required on that basis.

25 On February 10, 2016, Dr. Winer described Plaintiff's work status as "light duty."
26 (Tr. 437.) Dr. Winer stated Plaintiff could lift "15 to 20 pounds" occasionally, but could 27 perform no repetitive lifting, bending, or stooping. (Id.) Dr. Winer stated that Plaintiff 28

1 must change position frequently and could not perform any work overhead or below the 2 knees. (Id.) Dr. Winer stated that Plaintiff's work restrictions were "permanent." (Id.)

3 On February 23, 2016, Dr. Winer opined that Plaintiff could sit for one to two hours, 4 for a total of four to six hours, stand for one to two hours, for a total of two to three hours, 5 and walk for one hour for a total of one to two hours. (Tr. 458.) He also opined that 6 Plaintiff could not bend, kneel, crouch, or climb. (Id.) Plaintiff could occasionally (defined 7 as up to 2.5 hours) lift fifteen pounds but could not lift any amount of weight frequently or 8 continually. (Id.) Plaintiff could reach above the shoulder occasionally, could perform 9 gross and fine manipulation constantly, and could reach below the shoulder constantly.
10 (Id.) However, Plaintiff could not perform "overhead" or "below the knee" work. (Id.)
11 Dr. Winer stated that Plaintiff's limitations or restrictions were permanent. (Id.) In June 12 2016, Dr. Winer stated that Plaintiff's status was unchanged and that he continued to have 13 "permanent light duty restrictions." (Tr. 569.)

14 The ALJ gave "some weight" to Dr. Winer's February 2016 opinions and his June 15 2016 statement. (Tr. 74.) The ALJ explained that he found Dr. Winer's opinion that 16 Plaintiff could perform "a limited range of light work" was consistent with Dr. McLean's 17 assessment in which Dr. Winer had concurred. (Tr. 74 (citing Admin. Hrg. Ex. 11F at 1-18 13).) The ALJ also found that Dr. Winer's opinion that Plaintiff could perform "light duty" 19 was consistent with multiple examination findings. (Tr. 74.) The ALJ did not specifically 20 reject any physical limitation that Dr. Winer assessed. (Id.) The ALJ assessed an RFC for 21 "light work," which required "lifting and carrying 20 pounds occasionally and ten pounds 22 frequently."² (Tr. 68 (citing 20 C.F.R. § 404.1567(b)).) Plaintiff argues that because "light 23 work" as defined in the regulations requires the ability to frequently lift ten pounds, by 24 adopting an RFC for light work, the ALJ implicitly rejected Dr. Winer's February 2016

25
26
27
28 ² Title 20 C.F.R. § 1567(b) provides that "[l]ight work involves lifting no more than 20 pounds at a time with frequent lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to 10 pounds."

1 opinions that Plaintiff could not perform any repetitive lifting.³ (Doc. 18 at 13 (citing 20
2 C.F.R. § 404.1567(b).))

3 Because Dr. Winer opined that Plaintiff could not lift any amount of weight 4 repetitively, frequently, or continually (Tr. 437, 458), and light work requires frequent 5 lifting or carrying of objects weighing up to ten pounds, see 20 C.F.R. § 404.1567(b), the 6 ALJ mischaracterized Dr. Winer’s February 2016 opinions as supporting an RFC for light 7 work. Additionally, by adopting an RFC for light work as defined in 20 C.F.R.
8 § 404.1567(b), the ALJ implicitly rejected Dr. Winer’s February 2016 opinion that Plaintiff 9 could not perform repetitive or frequent lifting. (Tr. 68.) The ALJ’s decision cites 10 examination notes as support for his finding that Plaintiff could perform light work.
11 (Tr. 74.) However, the ALJ did not explain how any of those examination notes supported 12 his rejection of Dr. Winer’s conclusion that Plaintiff could not perform repetitive or 13 frequent lifting.

14 2. The ALJ Erred by Rejecting Dr. Winer’s Opinions

15 As noted above, the ALJ assessed an RFC for “light work” that required “lifting and 16 carrying 20 pounds occasionally and ten pounds frequently.” (Tr. 68.) This RFC was 17 inconsistent with, and amounted to an implicit rejection of, Dr. Winer’s February 2016 18 opinion that Plaintiff could not lift any amount of weight repetitively, frequently, or 19 continually. (Tr. 437, 458.) The ALJ erred by failing to explain his implicit rejection of 20 the lifting restrictions Dr. Winer assessed in his February 2016 opinions. Because 21 Dr. Winer was a treating physician, the ALJ owed his opinion special deference. The

22
23 ³ Plaintiff states that the ALJ “fail[ed] to address significant limitations in the June 8, 2016 24 assessment.” (Doc. 18 at 13 (citing Tr. 74, 437).) Relying on this assertion, the 25 Commissioner states that Plaintiff challenges Dr. Winer’s June 2016 statement. (Doc. 23 26 at 11 (citing Doc. 18 at 13).) The Court finds that Plaintiff meant to refer to Dr. Winer’s 27 February 2016 assessment, not his June 2016 statement. Plaintiff cites to Tr. 437 to support 28 his statement that the ALJ disregarded limitations in the June 8, 2016 assessment. (Doc. 18 at 13.) Page 437 of the administrative transcript is Dr. Winer’s February 10, 2016 statement of work status. (Tr. 437.) The February 10, 2016 statement indicates that Plaintiff’s next appointment was on June 8, 2016. (Id.) On June 8, 2016, Dr. Winer stated that Plaintiff’s “work status remain[ed] unchanged with permanent light-duty restriction.” (Tr. 569.)
Dr. Winer did not assess any additional limitations in the June 8, 2016 statement. Thus, the Court concludes that on page 13 of his brief, Plaintiff meant to refer to “significant limitations” identified in the February 10, 2016 assessment.

1 ALJ's failure to set forth specific and legitimate reasons rejecting Dr. Winer's opinions
2 was legal error. See Salvador v. Sullivan, 917 F.2d 13, 15 (9th Cir. 1990) (finding that ALJ 3 implicitly rejected treating physician's opinion by concluding that claimant could perform 4 light work, and that ALJ's failure to evaluate the treating physician's findings or 5 conclusions was legal error). The Court cannot conclude that this error was harmless 6 because, as discussed in Section VII, the vocational expert's testimony suggests that an 7 individual with the lifting restriction that Dr. Winer assessed would be unable to perform 8 the jobs upon which the ALJ relied to find Plaintiff not disabled.

9 VII. Remand for an Award of Benefits or Further Proceedings

10 Based on the ALJ's error, the Court vacates the Commissioner's decision and may 11 remand this case "either for additional evidence and findings or to award benefits."
12 Smolen, 80 F.3d at 1292. Generally, when the court reverses an ALJ's decision, the court 13 remands "to the agency for additional investigation or explanation." Benecke v. Barnhart, 14 379 F.3d 587, 595 (9th Cir. 2004) (citations omitted). However, when "it is clear from the 15 record that the claimant is unable to perform gainful employment in the national economy," 16 "remand for an immediate award of benefits is appropriate." Id.

17 Under the Ninth Circuit's credit-as-true standard, courts may credit as true 18 improperly rejected medical opinions or claimant testimony and remand for an award of 19 benefits if each of the following conditions is satisfied: "(1) the record has been fully 20 developed and further administrative proceedings would serve no useful purpose; (2) the 21 ALJ has failed to provide legally sufficient reasons for rejecting evidence, whether 22 claimant testimony or medical opinion; and (3) if the improperly discredited evidence were 23 credited as true, the ALJ would be required to find the claimant disabled on remand." 24 Garrison v. Colvin, 759 F.3d 995, 1020 (9th Cir. 2014) (citing Ryan, 528 F.3d at 1202). If 25 the "credit-as-true rule" is satisfied, the court may remand for further proceedings, instead 26 of for an award of benefits, "when the record as a whole creates serious doubt as to whether 27 the claimant is, in fact, disabled within the meaning of the Social Security Act." Garrison, 28 759 F.3d at 1021.

1 The ALJ did not provide any reasons for his implicit rejection of Dr. Winer’s
2 opinions that Plaintiff could not perform any repetitive or frequent lifting. Plaintiff argues 3 that if that opinion is credited as true, and combined with the “sit/stand option” included in 4 the RFC, Plaintiff is limited to a sedentary RFC and that work is eliminated. (Doc. 18 at 5 18.) The Court disagrees and finds that it is not clear from the record that Plaintiff is 6 entitled to benefits if Dr. Winer’s February 2016 opinions are credited as true. See 7 Garrison, 759 F.3d at 1019. The Court finds that “additional proceedings [could] remedy 8 defects in the original administrative proceeding.” Garrison, 759 F.3d at 1019 (quoting 9 Lewin v. Schweiker, 654 F.2d 631, 635 (9th Cir. 1981)).

10 At the administrative hearing, the vocational expert testified that a person with the 11 RFC that the ALJ assessed could perform work as a ticket taker, an order caller, or a silver 12 wrapper.⁴ (Tr. 101-02.) The ALJ relied on those three jobs to conclude that Plaintiff was 13 not disabled under the Act. (Tr. 80-81.) The vocational expert characterized ticket taker, 14 order caller, and silver wrapper as jobs that involved “light exertion.” (Tr. 102.) The 15 vocational expert testified that an individual who was limited to lifting nine pounds 16 frequently could still perform those three jobs. (Tr. 102-03.) However, the vocational 17 expert did not provide any testimony regarding whether an individual who was unable to 18 lift any amount of weight frequently or repetitively could perform those jobs.

19 The Commissioner states that the none of jobs the ALJ relied on at step five indicate 20 that Plaintiff would be required to lift repetitively. (Doc. 23 at 12.) However, the 21 Commissioner only refers to two of the three jobs the ALJ cited, order caller and ticket
22 taker. (Id.) Additionally, the Commissioner does not address the vocational expert’s 23 testimony that the three jobs—order caller, ticket taker, and silver wrapper—are “light

24
25 ⁴ The ALJ found that Plaintiff had the RFC “to perform light work (lifting and carrying 20 26 pounds occasionally and ten pounds frequently).” (Tr. 68.) The ALJ added that Plaintiff 27 needed a “‘sit/stand option,’ in which [Plaintiff could] sit, stand and/or walk for a total of 28 eight hours in an eight hour day, exclusive of normal breaks, and with the option to be able to change positions after one hour of sitting or 30 minutes of working or standing, while remaining at the work station.” (Id.) The ALJ found that Plaintiff could occasionally climb stairs and ramps, but never climb ladders, ropes, or scaffolds. (Id.) Plaintiff could “occasionally stoop, kneel, crouch, and crawl.” (Id.) Plaintiff should avoid concentrate exposure to . . . cold, unprotected heights, and moving or dangerous machinery.” (Id.)

1 exertion” and thus, may require frequent lifting of up to ten pounds, as the vocational 2 expert’s testimony suggests. (See Tr. 102-03 (stating an individual who was limited to 3 lifting nine pounds frequently could still perform work as an order caller, ticket taker, and 4 silver wrapper).)

5 The Court concludes that further proceedings would be useful to reconsider 6 Plaintiff’s RFC in light to Dr. Winer’s February 2016 opinion that Plaintiff could not 7 perform repetitive or frequent lifting and to obtain vocational expert testimony regarding 8 whether Plaintiff can perform other work that exists in the significant numbers in the 9 national economy.

10 Accordingly,

11 IT IS ORDERED that the Commissioner’s decision is VACATED and this matter 12 is remanded for further proceedings consistent with this Order.

13 Dated this 27th day of March, 2019.
